The Executive School of Protocol Academy for Young Ladies

In September 2013, Institut International Bermuda, will welcome The Academy for Young Ladies program into their newly established junior division. The goal of the Academy for Young Ladies continues to be preparing individuals to step into roles of accomplished 21st century women who are effective in multi cultural environments. This is achieved by broadening horizons through the study of contemporary social skills, international cultural awareness, fine arts and development of healthy personal lifestyles. A curriculum not offered at this intensity in local public and private schools.

The Academy for Young Ladies level I, offers a week of introductory classes in topics that are later covered in depth, in levels II and III. We have upgraded the syllabus to incorporate the latest trends in Latin American, Middle Eastern, European and Asian customs. With the current turmoil in many of these countries, opportunities to acquire this knowledge first hand, has become increasingly difficult. Yet, these skills remain a valuable commodity to have in ones portfolio and this is what we offer our students. Students who complete our courses acquire social, etiquette and leadership skills that help them navigate their future with confidence.

Graduates of the Academy for Young Ladies program will have the advantage of being perfectly positioned to benefit the most, from additional classes offered by the Institut International when they reach the entry age requirement. They are therefore granted preferential admission status into Institut International courses. Seminars, classes and workshops of the Institut International focus on global trends in etiquette, protocol and lifestyle and are open to anyone over the age of 18 years old.

We are now accepting applications for those interested in the 2013 Academy for Young Ladies level I, full day classes. These will take place during the school half term holiday from Tuesday, October 22nd through Saturday, October the 26th. All 14 to 18 year old applicants are welcome, though students having graduated from other Executive School of Protocol classes are given first preference for places. We encourage anyone who is interested to apply. Class size is limited and acceptance into the program will be based on the order in which applications are received and admission questionnaire results. For more information please contact the school directly.
